

Safety Tip

When Transporting Household Hazardous Waste Isolate the Passengers in Your Vehicle from the Containers

The blue car with white interior crossed the median and collided with the on-coming traffic.

The blue car was occupied by a family of four transporting used paint to the local HHW drop off location.

When transporting hazardous waste it is a good idea to place it somewhere other than in the passenger compartment.

Everyone appears to be OK here, except possibly for some wounded egos. It could have been much worse.
