

Ryan Klein

Associate 1,
California Product Stewardship Council

Ryan Klein studied at the University of California, Davis from June 2021 to June 2023, and graduated with a B.A. in Communications.

After completing his degree, Ryan worked as an operations manager at EkoLinq, a textile recycling start-up located in the San Francisco Bay Area. During his tenure, he helped divert over 400,000 lbs. of textiles from local landfills. Through community outreach, fundraising events, marketing campaigns and process optimization, Ryan grew the business and made a sustainable impact in his local community.

Ryan joins CPSC as an Associate working on textiles programs, such as the LA Pilot Project, and policy advocacy for extended producer responsibility and product stewardship. Email ryan@calpsc.org and connect on LinkedIn.
