

Rachel Ross-Donaldson is the Agency Manager of the Tehama County Solid Waste Management Agency, serving Tehama County since 2013. In her role, Mrs. Ross-Donaldson manages household hazardous waste facilities, landfill and materials recovery facilities and organics management for all the jurisdictions within the County. As the Agency Manager, she makes policy and program recommendations, which currently includes several collection and/or recycling programs that support public/private relationships to manage difficult waste streams. Through her recommendations, the Agency has long been an early adaptor of product stewardship programs.

Mrs. Ross-Donaldson has been appointed to various committees and Boards, including the California Stewardship Program Advisory Committee and currently sits on the Rural Counties' Environmental Services Joint Powers Authority Board of Directors.

Mrs. Ross-Donaldson studied at the University of California, Santa Barbara.
